Terry: Hey babe, what do you want for dinner?

Laiken: I want pizza, but not one of those chains where the crust tastes like cardboard and the cheese just falls right off. I want a real pizza.

Terry: I think I know just the spot. Red Boy Pizza is locally owned, not to mention their thick crust, grated cheese, or many different combinations like pepperoni, vegetarian. And my personal favorite, Devil's Delight. How does that sound?

Laiken: I just have one question: Where do we get it?

Laiken: Perfect! Let's go!

Terry: Ahhh, I can taste the ooey, gooey Devil's Delight now!
